GASTRONOMICAL AND PISCATOMIAL F.RASURE.

J. There is no place in the United States where good eading and good hishing are more to be enjoyed than at Babylom not ancient Babylon, but Babylon on Long Island. All whe are fond of piscatorial enjoyments, we would advise to take to Long Island cars, at St. 45. A. N., or 3:45 F. M., to Deer Park, and thence by stage to Babylon. And when landed they will find mine host, wm. B. Watson, one of the best caterers, and withal, one of the cleverest of gentlemen, ready to recovive and entertain them at the American, an hotal, second scarcely to any in renowned Gollam. After a night of refreshing sleve, they can, under the guidance and direction of host Watson, who is "posted," commence as arduous a day's work at "bluefash fishing" as they desire. The season was never better, so says the "oldest inhabitanta." One thing we know: that we, two amateurs, caught has Thursday sixty-six, and on Friday one hundred and four, weighing from seven pounds downward. 1. S.
